Subject to the Terms and Conditions set out below, Exchange Data International Limited ("EDI") makes this data ("the Information") available to Purchasers ("the User") by way of a single-user licence ("the Licence"). The Licence is personal to the User and the User's access details may not be shared. Any breach of the Licence terms may result in termination of the User's right of access to the Information.

Permitted Uses

The Information may be used for the preparation of documents and analyses whose primary purpose is to support the internal business processes of the User and the User's corporate Organisation ("the Internal Use"). Other than as expressly permitted herein, the User agrees (i) not to reproduce, retransmit, disseminate, sell, distribute, publish, broadcast, circulate or commercially exploit such Information in any manner without EDI's express consent; (ii) not to use such Information for any unlawful purpose or for any purpose contrary to the terms of this Agreement; (iii) to make no attempt to alter, modify, improve, reverse engineer, interfere, disassemble or decompile the Information or the means by which it is delivered.

Limitation of Liabilities

The User agrees that neither EDI nor EDI's third-party service providers shall have any liability whatsoever, for the accuracy, completeness or timeliness of any Information and for any decision made or action taken by User in reliance upon it. All other implied warranties, conditions and terms, be they implied by statute or law or otherwise are excluded to the fullest extent permitted by law.

Governing Law

The Licence is governed by and shall be construed in accordance with the laws of England and Wales. The Parties submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Courts of England and Wales in respect of any disputes, matters or claims which may arise out of or in connection with this Licence.
